MESSAGE

FROM AOGS TEAM 10-11

Respected seniors & dear colleagues,

On 31st march I am going to complete my term as an Hon. Secretary of our AOGS.

It has been an eventful year with lots of sweet memories of some great events we celebrated together.

The year started with the very happy note that entire new team came into existence by consensus!! Elected uncontested!! What a way to start our journey!!

We could organize two National Conferences on a grand scale namely-FOGSI Satellite Conference & Endoscopy Conference.

We could arrange three full day workshops related with Ultrasonography & Critical Care in Obstetrics.

We could arrange high profile EGYPT TOUR in diwali & cool KERALA-MUNNAR tour in scorching heat of summer!!!

We could excel in every sphere of activity only because of great support of all of you & with the blessings of seniors.

Here I would like to thank my entire managing committee team members who supported me whole heartedly in every activity I pursued.

I specially thank our President, Dr. Pragnesh Shah for granting me full liberty for each & every activity we organized.

At the end, I wish all the great success to incoming team for the next year.

It is my heart felt feeling that if this same team spirit & healthy environment prevails in our AOGS then we will achieve greater heights of success & glory in every activity we plan in coming years.

I am also happy and proud that many RCH has been undertaken by AOGS during my tenure at various schools.

I foresee very bright future of our organization, Because with GOD'S GRACE we have proved that "individually we may succeed but collectively we can excel". Again wishing our organization all the good luck.

I am very much thankful to our Hon. Health Minister Shri Jaynarayan Vyas for inaugurating our both the National Conferences.

I am also thankful to Dr. Pankaj Shah (GCRI) and Shri T. P. Singh (BISAG-Gandhinagar) for providing all type of facilities for conducting workshop and conference.

I am very much thankful to Dr. Bharat Shah, dean -B. J. Medical College & Dr. Pankaj Patel, dean -NHL MMC for their kind help & support in organising AOGS events at their promises.

Dear Endoscopic surgeons,

At a very fulfilling moment, we are happy that the vision of Endovision 2010 Conference to deck you with updates on the safest and most effective endoscopic procedures, serving your patients with the least invasive methods of diagnosis and treatments in Gynecology, came true.

Endovision 2010, held from 12th to 14th February, 2010, became an historic event in the now evolving phase of Endoscopy practices in India. Kudos to all organizers - the FOGSI Endoscopy Committee, the Ahmedabad Ob Gyn Society (AOGS) and Indian Association of Gynecologic Endoscopists (IAGE).

The emphasis on the importance of evidence-based practice, on standard scientific attitude was made possible through sharing integration of clinical practice by International expert faculties, sharing innovation and dialogue during live workshop & conference that in turn sensitized each one into, I guess, a smarter Gynecologic Endoscopist for the future.

Accreditation for CME Credits was started during this conference and was welcomed by all. India riding a huge betterment drive in all fields, Gynec Endoscopy is no exception. Some of our members have won acclaim all over the globe and found a place in Global Rankings. This puts us in face of our vision being fulfilled! FOGSI-ICOG the Credit points for workshop and scientific program accredited by ICOG would lend the deserved credit for this program and majority of the delegates have responded well by attending every session and given feedback form to achieve FOGSI-ICOG credits for the first time in National Conference in Ahmedabad.

Gujarat is completing 50 years of its formation- in this Golden Jubilee year all the delegates took the pledge of establishing standards in Gynaecological practices in India for better quality care for our patients, during the Inauguration of the conference and in presence of our honorable health Minister Shri Jaynarayan Vyas..

Live workshop was in Gujarat Cancer Research Institute(GCRI) and many complicated cases like Laparoscopic VVF repair, Pelvic Floor defects Repair, Infertility, Fibroid, TLH cases, Cancer cases operated for understanding their place today & avoiding complications at every step on endoscopic surgery in our routine Laparoscopic practice. We had around 300 registrations. More than 75 eminent national faculties have participated in the conference... It was successful not only in the number of registrations but also because of variety of topics covered, interesting videos and surgeries shown and the eminent speakers from all over India and abroad. Whether it was teaching the basics of laparoscopy, demonstrating both simple day to day or difficult surgeries, showing interesting videos or debating the dilemmas of laparoscopy all was presented and received with great enthusiasm.

Every session of workshop and conference was stimulating and thought provoking.

FOGSI President, Dr Sanjay Gupte delivered Silver Jubilee Oration of AOGS on Recurrent pregnancy loss and Key note address on "Need for establishing standards in Medical practice"

At the end of it all you will have a bag full of 'take-home' tips and skills to carry back along with some wonder-filled memories we wish to give you with sheer pleasure.

Dr. Kiran Desai for excellent Scientific menu, Dr. Mukesh Bavishi for handling the stage and keeping exceptionally accurate timing, Dr. Mehul Damani for handling the stalls and stage, Dr. Anjana Chauhan for helping during live workshop in GCRI. Not forgetting Dr. Dilip Gadhvi, Dr. Devang Kanuga, Dr. Hemat Bhatt, Dr. Anil Mehta, as the Secretary of the Conference. Dr. Manish Shah & Dr. Sujal Munshi, Dr. Tejas Dave & Dr. Parul Kotadawala for helping in arranging Video conference from U.K. & France by International speakers Dr. Revaz & Dr. Janesh Gupta.

This communication will be incomplete without my gratitude towards everyone who has toiled for conceiving, shaping and executing various aspects of the Conference.

Thank you all!

ATTENTION

In the year 2001, AOGS had taken responsibility of distribution of loan amount from FOGSI to the earthquake affected members. FOGSI had paid Rs. 10,00,000 (Ten lakhs) for the same. AOGS has collected Rs 5,50,000 (Five lakh fifty thousand) so far and given to FOGSI., from the members. Still Rs 4,50,000 (Four lakh fifty thousand) is pending to be collected. It is very UNFORTUNATE that despite our repeated reminders, the members with roaring practice are still reluctant to refund the megre amount.

Our request to the following doctors to kindly refund the remaining amount so that we don't lose the trust of FOGSI for their help in any future natural disasters.

PAST PROGRAMME

REPORT

Clinical Guidelines for Management of Gynaecological Cancer

Wednesday, 3 March 2010

at The Metropole Hotel, Ahmedabad.

On 3/3/2010 a scientific programme was conducted by AOGS and GCRI about "Recent Clinical Guidelines for the Management of Gynaecological Cancer". It was an honour to have a foreign faculty Dr. Matheus Burger from Netherlands to share his experience with us. Dr. Matheus Burger had come to GCRI for Gynaecology Oncology workshop organised by IIGO (Indian Institute of Gynaecology Oncologist) and AGOI (Association of Gynaecology Oncology of India). This workshop was the 1st IIGO Meet organised to spread awareness for gynaecology oncology in India and it was in collaboration of Dutch School of Gynaecology Oncologist. At GCRI, the workshop was co-ordinated by Dr. Kalpana Dave, Dr. Ava Desai, Dr. Meeta Mankad, Dr. Pariseema Dave, Dr. Matheus Burger from Dutch School of Gynaecology Oncologist was invited for the workshop. On 3/3/2010 the scientific programme was conducted in collaboration of AOGS and with the immense efforts of Dr. Pragnesh Shah and Dr. Dilip Gadhavi this scientific event was arranged in a very short span. The programme was a great success and about 180 delegates attended the programme.

The guest lecture was by Dr. Matheus Burger and he had very lucidly made it clear for managing suspicious ovarian cancers. He had also emphasised the importance of RMI index in diagnosing the ovarian malignancy and to decide the mode of treatment.

The panel discussion moderated by Dr. Meeta Mankad and the panellist – Dr. Matheus Burger, Dr. Atul Munshi, Dr. Ava Desai, Dr. Pariseema Dave, Dr. Chirag Amin was very informative and lively and everybody enjoyed the various topics covered. The important points which were of relevance are as follows:-

The need of reporting the Pap's smear with Bethesada System which helps in further management of the patients with positive reports. The need of HPV testing and interpretation, and also regarding the counseling of patients with HPV positive report. The importance of tumour markers in different age groups of women presenting with ovarian tumours. The role of laparoscopy in ovarian tumours when it should be one and when one should stop. In genetic predisposed women in ovarian cancer proper history, particularly the details of malignancy in the family and to do pedigree study up to three generation of the family. Whenever necessary for BRACA1 and BRACA2 testing for such women. Proper work up of postmenopausal women so that the chances of carcinoma of the body uterus is not missed. Also for proper staging in such patients will help in the management of adjuvant treatment. It was emphasized that fractional curettage should precedes before hysterectomy – the age old saying.

The session ended with a very interactive talk on the HPV vaccine specially in older women and Dr. Atul Munshi had concluded that if a woman is affording with a word of caution such woman can be vaccinated.

Very important discussion was initiated by Dr. Pragnesh Shah regarding the role of gynaecologist in laparoscopic management of various gynaec malignancies and the need of gynaecological oncologist to learn the laparoscopy so that such patients can be benefitted.
